COMMISSION,

Plaintiff,

v.

JOHN AARON BROOKS,

Defendant.

Case No. _____

ECF Case

COMPLAINT FOR INJUNCTIVE AND OTHER EQUITABLE RELIEF AND FOR CIVIL MONETARY PENALTIES
PURSUANT TO THE COMMODITY
EXCHANGE ACT

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

The U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission (the "Commission" or the "CFTC"), by and through its attorneys, hereby alleges as follows:

I.

SUMMARY

1. For the majority of the days for nearly eleven months beginning in or about November 2010, and continuing through on or about October 20, 2011 (the "Relevant Period"), defendant John Aaron Brooks ("Brooks" or "Defendant"), then employed as Director in the commodities business of an affiliate of a large commercial bank, violated the anti-fraud provisions of Sections 4b(a)(1)(A)-(C) and Section 6(c)(1) of the Commodity Exchange Act ("Act") and Commission Regulation ("Regulation") 180.1.

2. Specifically, Brooks schemed to conceal from the bank and its affiliate trading losses by inflating the value of New York Mercantile Exchange ("NYMEX") Chicago Ethanol (Platts) Futures contracts ("NYMEX ethanol futures"). Brooks was responsible for valuing and reporting the value of his ethanol futures positions in his trading book, which involved manually entering position information, including but not limited to the price of the position, into the bank affiliate's systems. To conceal the trading losses he was incurring, Brooks manually entered falsely inflated ethanol futures values.

3. The losses concealed ultimately grew to cause the bank and its affiliate to suffer over $40 million in realized losses before Brooks's fraud was detected, leading to his termination.

4. To effectuate the scheme, Brooks knowingly entered false inflated prices into an internal trade booking and valuation computer software system.

5. Accordingly, pursuant to Section 6c of the Act, 7 U.S.C. § 13a-1, the Commission brings this action to enjoin such acts and practices, and compel compliance with the Act. In addition, the Commission seeks restitution, civil monetary penalties and such other equitable and ancillary relief as the Court deems necessary or appropriate under the circumstances.

6. Unless restrained and enjoined by this Court, there is a reasonable likelihood that Defendant will continue to engage in the acts and practices alleged in this Complaint.

II.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

7. The Court has jurisdiction over this action pursuant to Section 6c(a) of the Act, 7 U.S.C. § 13a-1(2006), which authorizes the Commission to seek injunctive relief against any person whenever it shall appear to the Commission that such person has engaged, is engaging, or is about to engage in any act or practice constituting a violation of the Act or any rule, regulation, or order thereunder.

8. Venue properly lies with the Court pursuant to Section 6c(e) of the Act, 7 U.S.C.

§ 13a-1(e) (2006), in that Defendant transacted business in this District, and the acts and practices in violation of the Act have occurred within this District.

III.

PARTIES

9. Plaintiff U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission (as defined above, the “Commission” or “CFTC”) is an independent federal regulatory agency charged with the responsibility for administering and enforcing the provisions of the Act and Commission Regulations.

10. Defendant John Aaron Brooks (“Brooks”) is an individual who resides in Houston, Texas. Throughout the Relevant Period, Brooks was employed by an affiliate of a large commercial bank with its principal place of business in New York, New York. Brooks worked in an affiliate of the bank in Houston.

IV.

FACTS

11. During the Relevant Period, Brooks was employed by an affiliate of a large commercial bank and traded, among other products, ethanol, corn, soybeans, and cattle futures, and options on futures.

12. The NYMEX is a registered entity pursuant to Section 1a(29) of the Commodity Exchange Act (“Act”) with its principal place of business in New York, New York.

13. CU is the NYMEX symbol for the NYMEX ethanol futures that Brooks falsely inflated, which are subject to the NYMEX rules.

14. Brooks was trading ethanol futures for and on behalf of an affiliate of the bank.

15. Brooks incurred mark-to-market losses, most of which occurred in other ethanol futures and ethanol forward contracts traded on the Chicago Board of Trade. As the losses grew over the Relevant Period, Brooks increasingly falsely inflated the value of his NYMEX ethanol futures to camouflage the increasingly higher losses he experienced on his other positions.

16. Given his experience as a senior ethanol trader, Brooks knew that he was responsible for entering the fair market value, as represented by the broker quotations and/or NYMEX settlement prices, of his NYMEX ethanol futures into the bank's computer system. Brooks knew, received, and/or had access to fair market valuations of his NYMEX ethanol futures throughout the Relevant Period, including broker quotations and/or NYMEX ethanol futures settlement prices.

17. The amount by which Brooks inflated the value of his NYMEX ethanol futures varied to correspond to the amount of losses in his other positions. In some instances, Brooks's valuations deviated from fair market value, as represented by broker quotations provided to Brooks and/or the daily NYMEX ethanol futures settlement prices, by more than two times.

18. At the end of each trading day, month after month, during the Relevant Period, Brooks knew or recklessly disregarded the fact that he was entering false values for NYMEX ethanol futures into the bank's computer system. Attached as Exhibit 1 is a list of Brooks's falsely inflated entries in the bank's computer system for NYMEX ethanol futures, broker quotes for ethanol futures received by Brooks and NYMEX settlement prices for ethanol futures.

19. Brooks acted with scienter during the Relevant Period.

20. The scheme began to unravel on or about October 18, 2011, when Brooks exceeded internal trade limits on cattle futures. The next day, Brooks's boss directed Brooks to unwind all of his positions.

21. In response, Brooks liquidated all of his positions except for his ethanol futures positions. Brooks did not liquidate his ethanol futures position because that liquidation would expose the losses that Brooks was offsetting and masking.

22. Thereafter, Brooks was suspended by his employer and denied trading access.

23. Brooks was terminated on or about October 27, 2011.

24. When Brooks was asked questions under oath about the mismarking of the NYMEX ethanol futures, Brooks repeatedly “decline[d] to answer based on [his] Fifth Amendment and constitutional rights in Ohio versus Reiner.”

25. The total losses to the bank as a result of Brooks’s scheme were approximately $42.4 million.

V.
